

ABSTRACT

A method for buffering a chemical mechanical polish chemical slurry is disclosed. Buffering the slurry reduces buildup of local acidic areas at the interface between the polished metal and the polishing pad. Reduction of the local acidic areas improves the uniformity of the polish and an endpoint signal used to determine when to finish the polish operation.

042390P9433